

The University of Pittsburgh Global Studies Center presents:

Tackling Structural Racism and Discrimination and Achieving Equality

The Role of Cities

Paul Lappalainen

Head of Equality Promotion, Office of the Swedish Equality Ombudsman. Mr. Lappalainen is scientific advisor to UNESCO's European Coalition of Cities Against Racism, which is building a network of cities to share experiences and improve policies to fight racism, discrimination, and xenophobia. This lecture will discuss how cities around the world tackle discrimination, racism, and social exclusion and invite discussion on how we can improve our work to address these issues in our region.

Frick Fine Arts Auditorium

Monday, June 22, 1:00 - 2:00pm

Reception to follow in Frick Fine Arts Cloister

Co-sponsors: Office of the Provost, Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences, UCIS (University Center for International Studies), Center for European Studies, Center for Latin American Studies, Departments of Sociology and Political Science, Pittsburgh Human Rights City Alliance.